»The easy way to transfer cash between friends.«

Cringle GmbH

money meets friends

Our idea

Cringle is a mobile payment solution for private individuals, and makes it possible for users not only to monitor their own transactions within their circle of friends, but also to make cash-free transactions. With Cringle, we close the gap between exchanging cash and online transactions, by bringing P2P transactions into the age of the smartphone.

The money transfer takes place directly between current accounts, by choosing the recipient from the address book, entering the amount desired and adding a personal note to payee – without cumbersome topping up, QR codes or external devices.
